THE STAUNTON ROMANCE.

The New Orleans Times gives the following version of the recent love affair at one of the female schools in Staunton, which resulted in the happy marriage of Mr. Johnson and Miss Roeder:

Current events have just brought to the surface a romantic love story, wherein one of the chief actors was a young gentleman of New Orleans, widely and favorably known in business circles, and its narration evidences that the course of true love does sometimes glide smoothly and happily.

About two years ago the hero loved and was beloved by a fair young member of New Orleans society, but the maid's paterfamilias looked not with favor upon the young man's suit, and in pursuance of his objections sent his daughter to a Virginia school.

Last summer Leader gave out that his health needed recuperation, and accordingly he departed on an extensive pleasure tour, but mark the result. Hieing at once to the vicinage of the school which contained the loved one, he 'interviewed' her, and the upshot of that interview was that they skipped merrily into a neighboring church, and there were quietly married. The newly-made bride returned straightway to school, the groom repaired to New Orleans, and—lo, the world knew not what had transpired.

Subsequently le pere, gleaned an intimation of the episode, and, with satisfying himself of its truth, brought his daughter to her New Orleans home, sent for the youth, was assured that the knot was irrevocably tied, and like a true philosopher he accepted the situation, blessed them both, and the curtain descended upon a [illegible] of [illegible] happiness.

Young ladies it is not your dress, your small, or pretty fingers, that attract men of sense. It is the true loveliness of your nature that wins and continues to retain the true affection of the heart. Young ladies sadly mis it who labor to improve the outward looks, while they bestow not a though on the mind. Fools may be won by gewgaws and showy dresses, but the wise and substantial are never caught thus. Let modesty be your dress.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—All the freight trains caught in the snow blockade have been abandoned for the present. In Summer Valley is 25 feet deep on the track. Over [illegible] snow is 20 feet deep above the track. On eastern bound train is still at Alta and a Western bound passenger train at Reno. Other Western bound passenger trains lie at Tono. An Eastern bound passenger train lies at Hallock. [illegible] feet of snow has fallen during the present storm.

For the Recorder.

THE REQUIREMENTS OF A TEACHER.

The profession of a teacher is something most beautiful—most sublime; to love the youths under his care as a parent, to fit and prepare them for life, to elevate and make them good men.

What ought he to be? He has to know all that he will teach, and still more. He must be pious, and diligent in every thing, earnest and friendly toward his pupils, just and reasonable, strict and attentive. His aim must be to bring his pupils to perfection, that they may learn not only a few useful matters, but if possible all.

He has to regard the pupils under his care as tender little plants, needing his love—his whole heart, and full of hope and confidence will they look up to him. So are the little flowers in meadows, woods and gardens, confidently looking up to the sky, longing now for rain, now for sunshine, for their growth and prosperity. Therefore, not even for an hour, ought the teacher to forget what he owes to his pupils. There will always be something needed amongst them, and to them, he has to give every care and attention.

Naughtiness and wantonness are not always wickedness of the heart, and apparent laziness is sometimes only a weakness of the child, caused by the teacher's negligence. He has to see that his pupils study diligently, and he must know in what manner to give the material to them, that they may like it and accept it with joyfulness. Then the school will be to them a pleasure and not a burden.

Those who generally sit at the head of a class are not always the best. Many a one will be neglected because the teacher does not like him. He has to sit on the last bench, and yet he has a true soul and a clear head.

Further, the teacher must endeavor to gain entirely the hearts of his pupils. He ought to regard them as his own children, so that they will delight to hear him, and give him their entire confidence. To exercise such a power over them, he must appear always friendly, but considerate; just, but not offending; strict, but not unkind. Never must he expect anything too difficult, not to mention impossibilities, never promise anything that he does not fulfil, nor threaten what he does not execute; and and he should appear always the same in every respect.

Under such circumstances the pupils will cling to him with their whole heart, and obey him with gladness. He has to condescend to the level of his pupils, for he can learn from them every day. His attention has to be directed to the way they take a thing into consideration—how they feel, and what they want; for this is all quite different from what it is with grown people. After this he has, in addition, to enlighten them in regard to their mistakes and weakness. To be looking always serious would make the pupils afraid and vexed; yet too much kindness would, like sweetmeats, spoil their stomachs. To be just must be his first duty, and the respect and love of the pupils will follow. Have no favorites; deal with every one alike, whether rich or poor.

In this way, what the sun is to the earth, the teacher will be to his school; and light, life, growth and fruit will be the beautiful and sublime reward.

To give some idea of the depth of the mud in some of our streets, we will relate a circumstance as it was told to us: A fellow was going along on the rock walk the other day, and saw what in the mud near the middle of the street. He reached out a long pole to poke in the hat, and just as he was about lifting it, a voice cried out from underneath it 'hold on; I'm safe; my horse is under me!' It must have been some time first perpendicular to the bottom just there.—Danville Register.

WHO CAN BEAT IT?—A single lady of Caswell, N. C., [illegible] with her own hands last year, weighing 632 pounds, and on Friday sold it to Farmer's Warehouse for the handsome sum of $284.68. The finest brought as high as $83 per hundred, and second grade $71. The sorriest of the lugs brought $14.50. Who of our fine tobacco raisers can beat that?—Danville Register.

'My dear husband, am I not your only treasure?' 'Certainly, and I should like to lay you up in heaven.'

NORTH CAROLINA.

The New York 'Sun,' of the 14th inst; publishes the following brief sketch of our State:

North Carolina was so called by the French in 1564, in honor of King Charles the Ninth of France; was first settled at Albemarle in 1630 by the English; chartered March 20, 1663, and June 30, 1665. Formed a constitution December 18, 1776, which was amended in 1835. Ratified the constitution of the United States November 21, 1789. Area, 50,704 square miles; population in 1870, 1,071,361, of which 391,650 were colored, and 1,241 Indians. North Carolina contain a portion of the Blue Ridge and the Black Mountains. The latter, in this State, are the highest in the Appalachain system. The rivers are the Neuse, Cape Fear, Roanoke and Tar.

Raleigh, the capitol, is a small city a few miles west of the Neuse river, near the border of the hill country.

Wilmington, the largest city of North Carolina, is situated in the low coast lands. It is on the left bank of the Cape Fear river.

Wilmington is connected by railroad with large cities north of it. It has considerable commerce, and carries on a large amount of manufacturing by steam power. Newbern, second seaport of the State, is situated on the right bank of the Neuse river, about 50 miles from its mouth.

North Carolina in the southeast and east is level and sandy and often marshy, interspersed with shallow lakes, especially between Albemarle and Pamlico Sounds. A chain of low island lines the whole coast. The State is rich in mineral treasures, especially gold, copper, iron and coal. The upper region of North Carolina is said to be unparalelled in richness. Coal—bituminous and anthracite—exists in large quantities, the former of the best quality. Iron occupies an important place in North Carolina, and its advantages for making bar iron of the best quality are very great. Marl is also abundant, and limestone and freestone exists in unexhaustible quantities. Magnetic iron ore, some silver, lead, manganese, gypsum and salt have also been found. North Carolina possesses exceedingly fine scenery. The picturesque Catawba Falls are well known. Pilot mountain, so named from having served as a landmark for the Indians, rises in a level country in a cylindrical form. Warm springs is a place of much resort. Paint Rock, and a rock called Chimney Rock is in the same locality.

Gingercake Rock, in the form of an inverted pyramid, is a curious pile of stone, 29 feet high, which supports a natural slab of stone, 32 feet long and 2 feet thick. Table Rock is another natural curiosity. The climate of North Carolina is hot and unpleasant in the low counties; the middle and western sections, however, are temperate and healthy. Wheat is harvested in June, and Indian corn in September. The soil possesses every variety, from the sands and marshes of the coast to the rich alluvials of the river bottoms. The marshes being drained, easily bring rice, cotton, tobacco and Indian corn. Much of the low sandy section is covered with forests of pitch pine that furnished large quantities of lumber, tar, turpentine and rosin. Here cotton, rice and indigo do well, but on the high grounds wheat, Indian corn, hemp, tobacco, rye and oats are more successfully cultivated. The staple products of the State are Indian corn, tobacco and potatoes; large quantities of wheat, oats, Irish potatoes, cotton, wool, rice, fruits, butter, cheese, garden vegetables, hay flax, grass seeds, beeswax, honey and some barley, buckwheat, wine, hops, hemp, silk and maple sugar are produced. The upland country contains oaks of several species, besides hickory, maple, ash and walnut. In the low country, pine, locust, cypress, with some maple pine, white oak, poplar, and under growth of vines, briers, &c. In the drier parts white and red oaks flourish. The manufactories are cotton, woolen, tanneries, flouring and grist mills tobacco and carriage factories. North Carolina exports lumber, pitch, tar and turpentine, with rice, cotton, &c; on a smaller scale. The export of naval stores exceeds that any other, if not all the States in the Union.

'Is there any person you would particularly wish me to marry?' said a widow expectant to her dying spouse who had been somewhat of a tyrant in his day. 'Marry the devil if you like,' was the gruff reply. 'Oh no, my dear, you know it is not lawful to marry two brothers.'

An inquisitive young man said to his mother's brother Uncle John, how is it that you and aunt Mary never agree? Because, my boy, we are both of us of the same mind, and have been so ever since we were married.' 'How is that, uncle? I don't understand you?' 'Why, my boy, you see the way we do is to let aunt Mary have her own mind.'

As a rich and pretentious shoddyite was looking at some paintings which he proposed to buy, the dealer pointed to a fine one, and said: 'That dog is after Landseer.' 'Is he, really?' exclaimed the pretender. 'What is the dog after him for,'

AN INVINCIBLE HAND.

Fort Smith (Ark.) Herald.

During the session of the United States district grand jury a witness was called before them named Scipio Cotton, a half-breed Creek Indian and negro, bright, sharp, and intelligent. He was the last witness to be called before the adjournment that day. After the examination, some one of the grand jury who knew him asked if he was the man who had four possessions.

He answered, 'Yes, sah; I'se de man.'

'Will you have any objection to telling it?'

'I'se afeard it will get me into trouble; but if the judge is willin',' appealing to foreman, 'I will tell it.'

The Judge consented. Then Scipio said:—

'You see, I lives on the cattle trail from through the Creek country to Kansas, and I was out in de road one day, and I meets a gentleman ahead of a big drove of cattle.

He says, 'Yes, sah.'

He says, 'It's a mighty poor country. How do you make a livin'?

I says, 'Sah, 'tis a putty good country. We has plenty of meat and bread, and I makes a good livin'——'.

He say, 'Old man, do you ever play cards?'

I says, 'Yes, sah, I does, sometimes.'

He says, 'Would you have any objection to play a little draw?'

'I says, 'No, sah.'

'So we gets off our horses along side the road, and sat down, and I pulls out de kards. Well, in a short time I beat de gentlemen out of sixty-two dollars and a half, and I thought I had him; so I puts up a hand on him—for I is, tho' I say it myself, a mighty smart hand at kerds—I know'd he would hab tree jacks and I would hab tree aces, and in de draw I know'd he would git de oder jack and I would git de oder ace. So he raises a bit, and I raises on back, till at last I put all the money I had winned from the gemmen and all de change I had, and I know'd I had him. Well, in de draw de gent got de oder jack and I got de ace spot. De gent wanted to bet, but I claimed a sight for de money, and told him I had an invincible hand, dat couldn't be beat.

He says, 'Old man, dem is right good britches you is got on; how much did they cost?'

I says, 'Yes, sah, dey cost me ten dollars.'

He says, 'I puts up ten dollars agin dem.'

I says 'Berry wall, sah; but I tells you I got a invincible hand.'

He put up de money, and I holds up my legs and he pulls off de britches and lays dem down.

'Now, sah,' I says, 'I told you I had a invincible hand what can't be beat. I's got fo' aces.'

De gent says, 'Old man, did you ever hear of five jacks beatin' fo' aces?'

'I says, 'I's heard it, sah; but I's neve seed it, and if you convince me ob it, de money's yourn.'

'Berry well, he says, laying down and keerd, ain't dat de jack ob clubs?'

'Yes, sah,' I says, dat am de jack ob clubs.'

'He lays down anoder keerd; 'ain't dat de jack ob spades.'

'Yes, sah, dat am de jack ob spades.'

'He lays down anoder; 'ain't dat de jack ob diamonds?'

'Yes, sah, dat am de jack ob diamonds.'

'He put down anoder, and says, 'ain't dat de jack ob hearts?'

'I says, Yes, sah, dat am de jack ob hearts.'

'Den he runs his hand in his bosom, and pulls out a great long pistol and points it at me, and says, 'ain't dat jack haul?'

'I says, 'yes, sah.'

'And he says, 'Ain't dat five jacks? and don't dat win the money?'

'And I says, 'yes sah, dat is Jack Haul, and dat is five jacks, and five jacks beat an invincible hand.'

'So he puts de money in his pocket, and ties my britches on 'hind ob his saddle, and tells me to scatter—and I did.

'You see, it served me right; for I tought the man was a green Missourian when I put up de hand on him, but he was an Arkansaw chap, and I finds dem mighty sharp judge.'

The above is vouched for by the foreman and several members of the grand jury as fact—every word of it.

A certain husband in our town last week went home, and on sitting to the dinner table, said: 'Wife, I am very sure this pepper is half peas.'

'Peas!' exclaimed the wife, somewhat provoked, 'Peas, indeed! That pepper is Goodlike's, takes best, he never sells adulterated goods. You don't know anything about pepper.'

'For all that, madam,' said the husband, 'I am sure that pepper is half peas; p-e-p-p-e-r, pepper, six letters and three of them p-e-a.'

A storm arose around—too peppery for his constitution.

What is that, that every one wishes for and yet tries to get rid of? A good appetite.

LOSS OF LIFE AT SEA.

Philadelphia, March 9.—The steamship Pennsylvania, from Liverpool, reports having a violent hurricane on the 27th ult. at midnight. The sea carried away the bridge on which were Captain Bradburn and the first and second mates and two sailors, all of whom were washed overboard and drowned. The fourth officer had a leg broken. The ship lost her boats and deck houses, but her hull and machinery are uninjured. Captain Bradburn was from Baltimore and the other officers were from England.

After the loss of the officers a consultation was held, and it was agreed that a steerage passenger named Brady, formerly third mate of the ill-fated Atlantic, who, it will be remembered, swam ashore and secured the line of the Atlantic, thereby saving many lives, should take command of the ship, and through his management the vessel was brought into port. This was to have been Captain Bradburn's last voyage to this port, it having been arranged to have him act as port warden at Liverpool.

The captain of the steamship City of New York has immortalized his infancy by surrendering up three sleeping Cubans who had taken passage on his vessel, to the Spanish conscripting officers, and perhaps to the garrote. He had left the harbor of Havana with them on board and returned after being twelve miles at sea, merely because they did not happen to have the money to pay their passage. They were put ashore in Havana, and at once taken up by the authorities and probably ere this have been shot or garroted. The passengers were indignant, and the captain has not increased his popularity in any quarter. The three men belonged to good families, and were only leaving Cuba in a hurry to avoid being conscripted into the Spanish army. They offered to pay on the arrival of the vessel in New York, but this would not satisfy Captain Decken, whose course is pronounced unprecedented.—Richmond Enquirer.

DANVILLE, March 9.

The steeple of the Main-street Methodist church, two hundred feet high, but recently erected by Henry Rash, of Richmond, was blown down to-day about eleven o'clock. There was only a slight wind prevailing at the time. The roof of the church was considerably damaged, besides other injuries to the building; but fortunately there were no lives lost. The adjacent buildings also escaped without injury. The loss by the falling of the steeple is at least five thousand dollars, and it may reach much more.

'PAPA, DON'T BURY ME DEEP.—In the spring of 1863, a little girl died in Vermont of consumption, aged eight years and three months. A few days before she died, she called her father to her bedside and said, 'Papa, when I die, don't bury me deep, not more than six feet,' holding up her emaciated arm, and measuring from her shoulder, 'Oh, it is so hard to be put down so deep in the cold ground! and please don't place any marble slab on my grave, it will be so dark under it, and press so heavy on my little breast. Set my grave nicely, and plant a tree at its head, so the wild birds can come in its branches and sing for me.' After a pause she continued: 'But it seems to me I would rather have our birds sing for me than wild birds. Couldn't you let brother Willie and sister Emma bring our cage of little birds out to the cemetery, Sunday morning, and leave them to sing to me all day? Then when you are all at Church it won't seem so lonesome out there by myself.' A few days after Anna died, and her affectionate parents did everything as she requested.

A little girl who was sent for some indigo, forgetting the name, asked the grocer: 'Please, sir, what do people dye with?' 'What do people die with?' exclaimed the grocer, 'why, with the cholera sometimes.' 'Then,' said the child, 'mother wants twenty-five cents worth of cholera.'

The work on the track of the Lynchburg and Danville railroad near town is progressing well. Fitzpatrick has now about 125 hands engaged and, with good weather, will finish this end of the line as soon as it is needed for the rails.—Danville Register.

'Mamma says it is not polite to ask for cake, said a little boy.

'No,' was the reply; 'it does not look well in the little boys to do so.'

'But,' said the urchin, 'she didn't say I must not eat a piece if you gave it to me.'

Two men were discussing about the ill humor of their wives.

'Ah,' said one, with a mournful expression, 'mine is a Tartar.'

'Well,' replied the other, 'mine is worse than that—mine is the cream of Tartar.'

Those who praise you in the beginning will ask favors in the end.

WEDNESDAY ... MAR. ... 1874

DEATH OF MILLARD FILLMORE.

The death of this gentleman, one of the nations great men, occurred at his home in Western New York during the past week.

Mr. Fillmore was born in the year 1800, and has thus passed away from the stage of his existence in his seventy-fourth year.

He first appeared before the national public as a member of the House of Representatives in the year 1832.

He was a lawyer of character and his professional pursuits frequently withdrew him altogether from the field of politics. In the year 1848 he was placed upon the Whig ticket as a candidate for the Vice Presidency, in connection with Gen. Taylor. Upon the death of the latter in 1850, he succeeded to the Presidency of the United States which place he filled with distinguished ability and success.

Since his retirement from the Presidency, Mr. Fillmore has lived in unpretentious retirement at his home in Buffalo. He had retained the good will of most Northern men which he had acquired during his administration, for his course during the war was not calculated to alienate his old friends.

☞ The last Legislature, says the Wilmington Journal, in the shortest in its session since reconstruction. The Legislature of '68 sat four months continuously, lacking two days, besides a preliminary session of forty-five days beginning in July. The same body met again in Nov. 1869, and sat one hundred and thirty four days.

The first session of the Conservative Legislature of 1870-71 sat one hundred and fifteen days, fifty four days of which were consumed in the impeachment trial of W. W. Holden.

The session of 1871-72 was only seventy five days. The Session of 1872-3 lasted eighty days, and that of 1873-74 seventy two days.

DEATH OF CHARLES SUMNER.

This prominent Statesman died very suddenly in Washington City on Wednesday evening last.

It would be hypocrisy in us or any man in the South to affect sorrow for such an event, or to unite in the customary tribute of respect, the natural and spontaneous action of his own people. The Southern people must look upon him as he really was in his relations to them, and regard him as one of those instruments in the hands of Providence for the accomplishment of some of His wise purposes.

Stripping Mr. Sumner of the robes of scholarship, and tearing from his brow the laurel crown of the orator, he stands before us, as a bad man, without a single good quality to redeem the wickedness of a political creed founded in hostility to the South, and carried through with the added venom of personal vindictiveness. His first entrance into political life was signalized by a declaration of hostility to the South, and this declaration was maintained through life with undeviating consistency and unabated hatred. It must be admitted, that he maintained his position with masterly leading and scholarly eloquence, and that through these instrumentalities, he acquired an influence which made him only the more dangerous.

Since the death of Thad Stevens he has been the most active enemy of the South, and the foremost to stir up and keep alive those elements of discord between the sections which while nurtured, will perpetuate indefinitely the growth of amicable feeling. That his hatred to the South was undying, and that the success of his pet scheme was paramount to every consideration of peace and harmony are illustrated by his last words to make sure that the civil rights bill did not fall through, a dying charge of hate, and a legacy of malice which leaves no place for forgiving memories among us.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTION.

An election for Governor took place in this State, which resulted in no election by the people, but carries it to the Legislature. Weston, Democrat came within 30 votes of an election. The Legislature is probably Democratic.

This is regarded as a decided defeat of radicalism in New Hampshire. Their majority for the last ten years has averaged 4500.

The near approach to an election by the people shows the importance of individual action. If thirty more people, who undoubtedly staid at home from indifference, or because they thought they were of no consequence in the general result, had come to the polls, Weston would have been elected without the delay and uncertainty of Legislative action.

☞ Major, D. H. Hamilton, of Horner and Graves' school was successful in his visit to Raleigh, to procure arms for the use of the cadets.

FIRST METHODIST MEETING HELD IN HILLSBORO.

[illegible] Hillsborough [illegible]

[illegible] each day in the Court House. Many were deeply affected. After preaching Sabbath morning, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was, probably for the first time in this place by a Methodist minister, administered. On the evening of this day, such was the manifestation of the power and goodness of God, that perhaps thirty were prostrated by the Rock under the overwhelming sense of his presence, most of whom were earnestly crying under a sense of their condemnation and supplicating for mercy in the name of Jesus. Such a scene was never before witnessed in that place, and the most impenitent seemed awed into reverence, and two or three obtained pardon. Though the pressing invitation of the people, we remained in town another day, and gave them another sermon on Monday evening and the gracious work went on, so that many were still struggling for deliverance from their sins; two of whom in the evening gave evidence of their justification. Among the witnesses of the beneficial effects of this meeting was a Presbyterian minister, who observed that it was "an interesting scene."

Hillsborough has been notorious for its infidelity and indifference to Christianity; but since the Camp Meeting the general subject of conversion is religion. Before, we were scarcely known among the people, having only two church members in the place, Dr. Strudwick's mother and Mr. Bacon, but now we have forty, and our doctrines are daily gaining ground. We opened a subscription for the purpose of raising funds to build a house of worship, and have obtained very liberal donations; so that we shall succeed in the establishment of a permanent congregation, even in Hillsborough. Indeed the people now wonder that we have been so long around about them, and yet have been so little known to them. They are now very solicitous to read our books, and to become thoroughly acquainted with the doctrines and discipline of our church, and we hope they will be fully gratified in these respects.

THE PETERSBURG CHARTER.

Last week we congratulated the city of Petersburg upon its new charter. This week we are sorry to record that Gov. Kemper has knocked everything into pi by his veto.

With the exception of the Richmond Dispatch, Gov. K. is execrated unsparingly by the Virginia press, and is denounced as false to that conservative principle which carried him a few short months ago so triumphantly into power.

It is hardly our right, it certainly is not our duty, to enlist in a contest which is peculiarly local. We can only express our sincere regret that Petersburg has been deprived by arbitrary stretch of power, of the relief so vital to her existence which had been given by the Legislative power, an authority supposed to be best acquainted with the wants of the State; and that Gen. Kemper is in danger of being pulled down from that pedestal of fame upon which he was apparently so worthily elevated.

The triumph of the Radical party in Virginia is at present very noisy; but it may be short lived. We are willing to believe that Gov. K. acted from conscientious, though mistaken motives, and with a moral courage, which makes his action only the more remarkable.

DIRECTORS MEETING.

The Directors of this Road were in session yesterday, (Friday) at the Company Shops. A dividend of six per cent. was declared payable to the stockholders, in equal instalments, April first and October first, next. All arrears of the loan money due by the Richmond and Danville Railroad, was paid up, and after the transactional semi-minor business, the meeting adjourned.—Crescent.

THE CENTENNIAL.

Few at the South will regret the failure of a congressional appropriation in this object. As long as the memory of the malignant abolition spirit of Philadelphia still live, and so long as the recent brazen of her cruelty to the captive soldiers of the South as they passed through the City shall survive, so long will the Southern people stand aloof from any scheme which looks to her glorification, and whether with grim satisfaction any rebuke her arrogant vanity may receive.

☞ Don Carlos, the aspirant for the Crown of Spain, proposes to have himself crowned at once as he captures Bilboa. The war still goes on in that distracted country with all the ferocity of which the Spaniards are capable, but with the same want of vigor and system of which they are equally conspicuous.

SUPT. OF PUB. INSTRUCTION.

The Wilmington Journal suggests the name of Col. S. D. [illegible] as a suitable nominee for this [illegible] fitting him exactly for such [illegible] by laborious energy [illegible] all the purposes of his election, by a spotless character commanding the respect of all with whom he is brought in contact, & then becomes the proper recipient of official honor, then Col. Pool should be put forward prominently as the choice of the people.

Party services also demand recognition, and few in the State have labored more faithfully in the cause than Col. Pool. We hope his claim will receive favorable consideration.

☞ The English have been engaged in a war with an African Prince, the King of Ashantee. The war has been conducted under great disadvantages of climate, and a densely wooded country which affords constant facilities for ambuscade. Anglo Saxon pluck has finally triumphed, and in a final battle, the King was defeated and his capital, Coomassie is in the hands of Sir Garnet Wolseley's forces.

MARKETS.

TOBACCO.—The Tobacco list of the 11th, a journal which is a close observer, and accurate reporter of the state of the Market, finds nothing to alter in the condition of the market. The same difficulty, that of falling upon a good average of quality, still exists, and will be one of the greatest obstacles to a steady market.

The Richmond markets show little difference from last weeks quotations, which we return.

RICHMOND, March 11th.

Lugs, Black, good,	4.50 to 5.50
" brown to light,	3.50 to 5.50

" good standing wrp'g.	8.50 to 10.00
" fine black fine,	11.00 to 12.00

The Danville report is the same as last week. S. H. Holland & Co., reporting that there is no change to make worthy of note.

DANVILLE, March 11th.

Reported by S. H. Holland & Co.

Lugs, common to good,	3.00 to 3.50
" good	4.00 to 4.50

Leaf, common to medium,	5 to 6

" Extra	50.00 to 70.00

We did not receive our Durham report. We learn however, that owing to the very dry and windy weather of last week, making it difficult to handle tobacco, there was a less quantity brought in than usual. Prices were however well sustained.

The same may be said of the Hillsboro market.

COTTON.—Has advanced slightly in Liverpool, but with no corresponding effect on this side of the Atlantic. New York markets continued dull with little change in prices:

Raleigh, March 11th, low middlings quiet at 14c. No demand for stained grades.

Norfolk, 13th, Low middlings 14½.

Wilmington 13th, low middlings 14¼, middlings 15¼, good ordinary 13¼ a 14.

PAIN-KILLER,

HAS been tested in every variety of climate and in almost every nation known to Americans. It is the constant companion and indispensable friend of the missionary and the traveller, on sea or land, and no one should travel on our Lakes or Rivers without it.

Since the PAIN KILLER was first introduced [illegible] many [illegible] Liniments, Relicfs, Panaceas, and other Remedies have come before the public, but none of them has ever attained the truly enviable standing of the PAIN KILLER.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

It is because DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is what it claims to be a Reliver of Pain:

Its Merits are Unsurpassed.

If you are suffering from INTERNAL PAIN, Twenty to Thirty Drops in a little Water will almost instantly cure you. There is nothing so Colic, Cramps, Spasms, Hurt Burn, Diarrhœa, Dissentery, Etc., Wind in the Bowels, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache.

In sections of the country where prevails, there is no remedy held in greater esteem. Persons traveling should keep it by them. A few drops, in water, will prevent sickness or bowel troubles from change of water.

FEVER AND AGUE

Pain Foreign countries the sale of Pain Killer are great. It is found by

Cure Cholera when all other remedies fail.

When used Externally as a Liniment, nothing gives quicker ease to Burns, Cuts Bruises, Sprains, Stings of Insects, Sand Scalds, it removes the fire, and the wound heals like ordinary sores. Those afflicted with RHEUMATISM, GOUT, or NEURALGIA, if not a positive cure, they find the PAIN-KILLER gives them relief when no other remedy will.

It gives instant relief from Aching Teeth.

Every House Keeper should have a bottle of it handy and apply it on the first attack of any Pain. It will give satisfactory relief, and save suffering.

Do not trifle with pains by Intemperate imitated remedies. Be sure you call for and get the genuine PAIN KILLER, as many worthless imitations are attempted to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable Medicine.

We learned at Durham that on Saturday two thousand boxes of manufactured tobacco were shipped from that place by W. T. Blackwell & Co. We are glad to note so marked an example of the revival of business.

Sudden Death.

D. R. Norment, of the R. & D. R. R. conductor on the N. C. R. R. and for some years Agent at Raleigh, died very suddenly on Saturday morning. He was on the street in the morning in his usual health.

Cold Weather.

The latter part of last week was marked by the most damaging cold of the whole winter. There was ice every day of the week, with cold drying winds, and the wheat and oats were materially affected thereby, at any previous period of their growth. It is feared that the peach crop is totally killed, for though the bloom was not fully developed, the buds seem to have been fatally scalded.

A cold northeast rain set in on Sunday night.

Dr. Hooker has removed to his new store, and will be glad to see friends and customers there.

Newburgh, N. Y.

We are in receipt of this splendid paper; splendid, pictorially, typographically, and editorially. We hope soon to make some arrangements by which all readers will enjoy the fruits of the enterprise of that journal.

One day last week the sales of Tobacco at the Danville Warehouse footed up a large quantity, averaging $18.08 per 100 lbs. which we supposed the highest average of the season in that market of any house.

NORFOLK

WASHINGTON.

Our Wilmington Correspondence.

WILMINGTON, March 14th, 1874.

Dear Recorder—We are still being favored with the beautiful spring weather for which our climate is celebrated.

Northern Visitors.

I notice that many of the Northern travellers who are seeking the south in quest of health and pleasure, are spending some time in this city. The Purcell house, which, by the way, is really a first class hotel, is quite full of northern people.

Before the war, the rule was for the Southerners to go North, and spend their money. Now the rule is reversed and you would really be astonished to see the numbers of Northerners who are going South to avoid the rigors of their winter and spring months.

Dredge Boat.

Wilmington is getting to be enough of a city to have its daily sensation. The chief matter of interest with us now is the operation of the Dredge Boat, cleaning out the logs and stumps in the river some five or six miles below the city. The logs, as the pilots and river men call this particular locality, has been, and is still, a terrible blockade upon our commerce. Vessels, drawing a considerable depth of water, must cross them at extreme high tide. It is more than twenty miles to the mouth, and as the bar and "rip" must also be crossed at high water, it requires two tides for loaded vessels to enter or depart from our port. This adds very much to the delay and expense, and has been a serious matter.

To obviate this difficulty, the officer in charge of our River and Harbor improvements have secured two Dredge boats, one to operate at the bar, in dredging out the sand, and the other in pulling up the logs and stumps in the river. This latter is a very interesting operation, and has developed some very remarkable facts.

This boat has a high "grapple," weighing six tons, which projects out in front of the boat, and is moved about at will by powerful machinery. It descends into the bed of the river, opening its ponderous iron jaws to its descent, and buries itself into the mud at the bottom. Its teeth are then closed, and whatever may chance to be caught is brought safely to the top and deposited in a Lighter tied alongside. All this is done by machinery without one human assistant.

Several huge logs and stumps, and innumerable cypress knees and roots have been received from the bed of the river in the few days the boat has been in operation. One curious fact presents itself. The roots and stumps are firmly embedded in the earth with their roots perfect, showing the appearance of the tree having grown there. While opinions are divided, the impression prevails among those who have been down to witness the operations, that the bed of the river at that point was once a cypress swamp. It does really seem so. Yesterday, for instance, a stump was brought up. Nine feet below the water, which was more than five feet in diameter at the top, and fully eight at the bottom. The roots were all perfect, and the tap root was freshly broken several feet below the surface. It had every appearance of having been cut with an axe, but the top was so ragged by contact with passing vessels, that this cannot be accurately stated.

Prof. Kerr ought to visit the scene of these operations.

Supt. of Pub. Instruction.

I notice that the Journal suggests Col. S. D. Pool of Newbern as a suitable candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction. I am glad to see it, for Col. Pool not only deserves the favor and support of his party but is every way competent to the position. I am sure his nomination will give the greatest satisfaction. Besides, the Conservative party has been very chary of rewarding the editors of the State, and who have done more, and labored more unselfishly for the party. It does seem to me a doubtful policy of continually rewarding the holder soldier, and overlooking him who has borne the brunt of the fight.

A HILLSBORO KNOWER.

Your townsman, Mr Henry K. Nash is making a preliminary survey for our Sea-Side Rail Road. The compliment to so young a man is very great, especially as he comes upon the recommendation and by the permission of the officers of the Carolina Central Railway in whose service he now is.

It does seem that our rail road to the Sea shore is about to become a reality. I hope so.

CAPE FEAR.

The Town Clock.

There is no little in this country venerable from antiquity, or endeared by historic association, that it is not to be wondered at that the people of Hillsboro pride with peculiar pride to their town clock which has a pre-revolutionary existence. It was presented to the town, then newly dignified by the name of Hillsboro, by the Colonial Governor Tryon about the year 1768. It has stood ever since unchanged, except in location, when it was transferred to the cupola of the new Court House about the year 1842, and has marked time for five generations. It measured the hours of revelry for that lordly governor, so splendid in his pleasures. It told off the minutes between time and eternity to those hapless Regulators, whose doom was fixed by the same ruler, cruel and obdurate, as he was courteous and magnificent. The soldiers of Cornwallis heard its chimes, and the veterans of Greene were guided by its voice.

For one hundred and ten years it has regulated the thrifty and warned the sluggard, and may do so for a hundred more years to come. But while its vitality seems as strong as ever, and its voice is clear, its face has been suffered to fall under eclipse, and its hands into paralysis. The cheery heart within gives no sign of its life but by its beat, and the palsied arms hang listlessly down unable to point out the march of time.

We are under the impression that a certain sum is guaranteed to be paid for keeping the clock in order. Does not this cover the proper condition of its index, as well as winding and regulating? If so, let us have full attention, so that the eye as well as the ear will be instructed. It is rather awkward to watch and wait for the stroke that marks the hour, without being able to get information by sight.

The Independent.

After a rest of a few weeks, this paper is again out with characteristic excellence. We hope Mr. Evans has succeeded in founding it upon a permanent basis.

Mr. Evans in the present issue, has some sketches of the editors of the State. He makes a little mistake about ourself, in saying that we write last after midnight. All our writing is done in broad daylight. We have too much consideration for the "wee small hours" to waste the time to divert them from the objects to which kind nature designed them, and devote them to forgetfulness of toil and trouble as far as sleep will effect that object.

Mr. Nash has made his entree into life under peculiarly flattering auspices, the fruits of unblemished character, and strict attention to duty.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Purifying Resolvent display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when.
